

The diagram shows a cross-section of a building facade. It features a series of vertical columns supporting a horizontal structure. The top section is divided into several rectangular panels, some of which contain small circular elements. The columns are of varying heights and are connected by a series of horizontal lines. The overall structure is symmetrical and appears to be a simplified representation of a classical architectural element.